Outside Employment Has Effect On Student's Grades

CHICAGO—Outside employment has a definite effect on a college student's grades.

Students working more than 15 hours a week have somewhat lower grades than those working fewer hours or not at all, it was revealed in a survey conducted at Illinois Institute of Technology.

More than one hundred students, representing a cross-section of the student body, reported their work activity for a typical one-week period in the school year, according to William D. Diemer, counselor-instructor who made the survey.

Half of the employed students surveyed worked more than 15 hours a week. Diemer pointed out, and one-fourth of them put in more than 25 hours a week in outside employment.

Two-thirds of those students employed from four to 40 hours a week, or the equivalent of working students among the top 10 per cent, reported no outside employment undertaken.

Diemer found that students working a limited number of hours each week does not necessarily mean a higher grade point average, he commented. Diemer pointed out, the data shows that this is true in the case of some students.

According to the survey, students working more than 15 hours each week had definitely lower scores on college entrance examinations than those who worked less or not at all. However, students working fewer than 15 hours per week rated slightly above intelligence scores than non-working students.

Conditions Affect Driving Ability

CHICAGO—Even though a person has a good safety record and thinks he is a safe driver, sometimes there are certain circumstances under which he should not drive.

Some of the things that make a driver dangerous are:

—Tiredness. Statistics show drivers feel the most critical days were among those who were extremely tired and intolerant of other drivers and car. They need to be mature.

—Drinking. Alcohol is as dangerous as riding a bicycle or a driver.

—Fatigue. When making long trips a person should rest every two hours, drinking coffee or cola to stay alert. He should not take any medicine that makes him drowsy.

—Medicines. Antihistamines, cold tablets, sedatives, tranquilizers and some other drugs may dull reflexes or impair coordination. Stimulants may make a person nervous. The doctor should be consulted about the side effects of any drugs.

—Faulty vision. A driver needs regular eye examinations. If he notices any change in his eyes between examinations, he should see his eye doctor immediately.

Better Foods To Get Better and Better

NEW YORK—According to the experts virtually every fruit and vegetable on the market today has been improved by modern plant breeding and this work is continuing steadily.

Today we have seedless grapes and seedless grapefruit, tightly packed head lettuce, thicker stringier bunches of celery, smoother, cleaner skinned potatoes, bigger apples and peaches.

Tomorrow looks even better. Scientists have produced blueberries as large as cherries, sweet corn with a yield many times that of present varieties and plant geneticists are working on thornless blackberry bushes and the perfect peach.

Gas Clouds Occupy Interstellar Space

WASHINGTON — The vast distances between the stars — light from the star closest to the sun takes more than four years to reach the earth—are not empty.

In interstellar space there are enormous invisible clouds composed of gases and grains, whose nature is completely unknown, out of which eventually new stars are born. Locating and defining these clouds and determining what they are made of remain some of the most pressing problems of modern astronomy.

Power User

WASHINGTON — More electric power is used by the Oak Ridge installation of the Atomic Energy Commission than by the highly industrialized city of Detroit, Mich. Power for Oak Ridge comes from the Kingston, Tenn., steam plant of TVA, which uses 4,500,000 tons of coal a year.

Tough-built Chevy truck bulls its way deep into the woods for mammoth loads

This big Series 60 Chevy bulls its way as far as 8 miles into the Louisiana woods, fights over ruts and jagged stumps . . . then grinds back out with towering loads of logs! The Sabine Lumber Company attests to the truck's ability to take it: "Chevrolet makes the best truck for our type of operation."

Out where a truck is known for the beating it can take, Chevy's making friends fast. Truckers like the way these toughies hold up; the way they wade right in, take their lumps, yet stay in shape.

Today, it's grit that Chevy's showing the trucking industry. Real toughness that pays off in job-after-job dependability . . . in ability to get work done at least expense. You can match Chevy muscle against any tough light-, medium- or heavy-duty job and know you've got it beat!

Your Chevrolet dealer's ready right now to meet your special work requirements. Stop by and see him soon.
